“You have no ego in your art! I love artists who has no ego in their art!” She tells me, I feel flattered, she’s in a red dress and a big smile, Linda. Linda, you look fabulous in that laze! It’s the Birthday party, the Queens are dancing with glittering clothes, hats and flute. The Opera is shinning tonight. New York, New York. I want to dance and sleep, to look fabulous in a dress made of steel. Melting ice cream on my tongue, im watching Red two times in a row. It’s such a great movie. I like the small world of the main characters, the heroine has such a small world, but she’s a star, a poster girl with ten meter pictures and fashion shows, her face is public. The old man is alone with his dog, but he has all the life of the people around him, he knows about their life’s and their love, their loneliness, he is a director and he miss someone to act his movie. Then there is this dobbelgaenger plot, It really confused me, but I liked it, it saved the love story of the old man, really a comforting twist. Today I lost a big knife in the sea, like a little flying object it turned around itself to end splitting the darkness and disappear. My dad looks at the daily updates from Palestine, my heart breaks in thousand parts when we look at the pictures. He reads the news for me, in Paris one policeman attacked his colleagues, four people died. I’m about to wash my leather pants, it’s getting cold and the leather are more resistant. Classics, like a long black coat or a cashmere sweater. I’ll go buy a piece of cake, watch White and Blue. Kiss Mira
