

CROOKED MIRROR

My beauty products are out of style lately, Moroccan military is holding it back. It's a geopolitical showroom, we will see who wins by time. It's a little tricky, they say spring is early this year. I imagine a lot of homegrown weed swaying on the balconies. When all of Europe starts growing they will have a hard time controlling it, at that point it must somehow finally get legalized. The sound of a thousand blenders full of fresh buds. It feels like the eyes are everywhere. I never felt like this before, the amount of control scares me. It's the state of surveillance, it changed fast -/ suddenly they creep in while you're asleep. bourgeois.....

Yours Truly Mira

illustration: Asta Plum

XXXIII

CROOKED MIRROR - a weekly column - Det Kosmiske Hierarki

Foto Lange Finn

